IT'S SMART TO BE STUPID

I'M the last one in the world to tell you a gal doesn't need a brain beneath her hair-do, but I am a firm believer in keeping them strictly under cover. I came to this momentous conclusion when Mike practically walked out of my life, and I had to think of ways and means to get him back again in a hurry.

Last August, six weeks before school opened, I met Mike. My name being Pat and his, Mike—well, from the first glance we knew we were fated for each other. Not that we look alike, since I'm blonde and Mike is tall and dark, but we liked alike, if you know what I mean.

At first all went well. We went to dances, speedboat races, played badminton and had the grandest times. But at the water carnival at the end of the season, when we entered the swimming races—well—that was when I first sensed something was turning sour.

You see, I happen to be a pretty good athlete. In fact, when it comes to swimming, I'm second cousin to a sea lion. Mike has plenty of muscles, all in the right places, but they do the wrong things. He just wasn't born in a bathtub.

I came down to the beach in my nifty two-piece bathing suit, very smooth, and Mike was already waiting with some others.

"Hi!" he greeted. "What race are you entering, sugar?"

"The backstroke, Mike, and you?"

His brows sort of scrounged together. "Ditto. I'm quite a man at the backstroke."

Looking at the other entries, I said, "Think we'll have any competition?"

He followed my glance. "Uh-uh," he shook his head negatively, and then turned to give me his special smile. "I'll even let you come in second."

Before I could reply, the judges began blowing whistles and the competition started. When it came to the backstroke race, I was itching to go, and Mike was, too, of course. We dove into the water, lined up, and we were off.

I do plenty of thinking when I'm not in motion, but when I am, I only want to do my best. I did. To make a long story short, I won the race, and Mike's congratulatory smile was feeble, to say the least. Fool that I was, I figured he'd had too much sun, but I realized later it was too much me.

At the celebration wiener roast held that night for the victors, I asked Mike to come with me, and he was back in the groove. He was solicitous, swoony and sweet at one and the same time, and he helped—or rather tried to help—with the wienies. But I had to save the poor guy from being a human torch, for he not only burned up our share of the food, he nearly set himself and the surrounding trees afire. Unfortunately, Mike had never been a bonfire boy.

When he dropped me at our cabin that night, the only burnt offering was himself. He wasn't overly cordial, and I felt let-down. Our wonderful vacation was at an end. We were all leaving for home the next day, and I had expected a little nicer good-by. True, we would be seeing each other in two days when school started—but the moon is bigger in the country, if you know what I mean.

Back in our natural habitat, Brockhill High School, we were as one again. The very first day, Mike put up a big sign that I was his and hands off, by squiring me to the opening assembly and after classes taking me to Ye Sweete Shoppe for a soda.

We did have fun! Even school was better than ever for me, for this year I was nominated to run as an officer, and in the next week my name was posted. Mike's name was listed too, along with some others—but everyone knew the race was between Mike and me. Of course, our grades had to be good to take an office, and so for weeks I rationed my dates with my heart throb, because Mike was the kind of distraction that made you think booklore was superfluous.

"I WAS ASHAMED OF MY FACE

until Viderm made my dreams of a clearer skin come true in one short week"

(FROM A LETTER TO BETTY MEMPHIS SENT HER BY ETHEL JORDAN, DETROIT, MICH.)

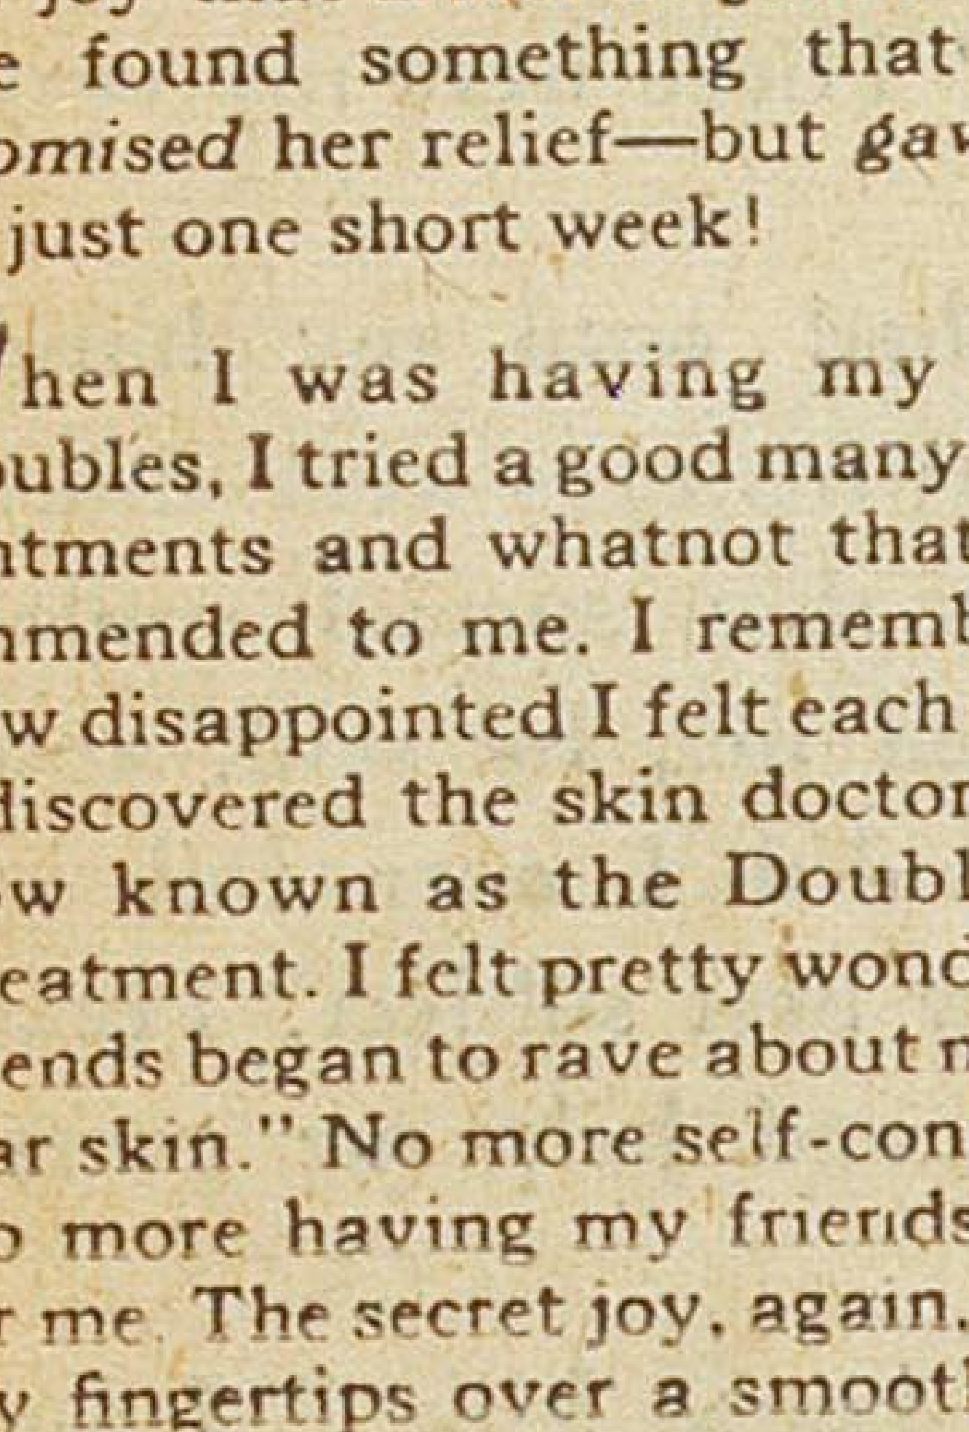
If your face is broken out, if bad skin is making you miserable, here is how to stop worrying about pimples, blackheads and other externally caused skin troubles.

JUST FOLLOW SKIN DOCTOR'S SIMPLE DIRECTIONS

"I just want to be alone!" Is there anything more awful than the blues that come when your face is broken out and you feel like hiding away because of pimples, blackheads and similar externally caused skin troubles? I know how it feels from personal experience. And I can appreciate the wonderful, wonderful joy that Ethel S. Jordan felt when she found something that not only promised her relief—but gave it to her in just one short week!

When I was having my own skin troubles, I tried a good many cosmetics, ointments and whatnot that were recommended to me. I remember vividly how disappointed I felt each time, until I discovered the skin doctor's formula now known as the Double Viderm Treatment. I felt pretty wonderful when friends began to rave about my "movie-star skin." No more self-consciousness. No more having my friends feel sorry for me. The secret joy, again, of running my fingertips over a smoother, clearer skin.

Many women shut themselves out of the thrills of life—dates, romance, popularity, social and business success—only because sheer neglect has robbed them of the good looks, poise and feminine self-assurance which could so easily be theirs. Yes, everybody looks at your face. The beautiful complexion, which is yours for the asking, is like a permanent card of admission to all the good things of life that every woman craves. And it really can be yours—take my word for it!—no matter how discouraged you may be this very minute about those externally caused skin miseries.



A screen star's face is her fortune. That's why she makes it her business to protect her complexion against pimples, blackheads and blemishes. Your face is no different. Give it the Double Treatment it needs and watch those skin blemishes go away.

What Makes "Bad Skin" Get That Way?

Medical science gives us the truth about how skin blemishes usually develop. There are small specks of dust and dirt in the air all the time. When these get into the open pores in your skin, they can in time "stretch" the pores and make them large enough to pocket dirt particles, dust and infection. These open pores become infected and bring you the humiliation of pimples, blackheads or other blemishes. Often, the natural oils that lubricate your skin will harden in the pores and result in unsightly blemishes.

When you neglect your skin by not giving it the necessary care, you leave yourself wide open to externally caused skin miseries. Yet proper attention with the Double Viderm Treatment may mean the difference between enjoying the confidence a fine skin gives you or the embarrassment of an ugly, unbeautiful skin that makes you want to hide your face.

The Double Viderm Treatment is a formula prescribed with amazing success by a dermatologist and costs you only a few cents daily. This treatment consists of two jars. One contains Viderm Skin Cleanser, a jelly-like formula which penetrates your pores and acts as an antiseptic. After you use this special Viderm Skin Cleanser, you simply apply the Viderm Fortified Medicated Skin Cream. You rub this in, leaving an almost invisible protective covering for the surface of your skin.

This double treatment has worked wonders for so many cases of external skin troubles that it may help you, too—in fact, your money will be refunded if it doesn't. Use it for only ten days. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose. It is a guaranteed treatment. Enjoy it. Your dream of a clearer, smoother complexion may come true in ten days or less.

Use your Double Viderm Treatment every day until your skin is smoother and clearer. Then use it only once a week to remove stale make-up and dirt specks that infect your pores, as well as to aid in healing external irritations. Remember that when you help prevent blackheads, you also help to prevent externally caused skin miseries and pimples.

Just mail your name and address to Betty Memphis, care of the New York Skin Laboratory, 206 Division Street, Dept. N-1, New York 2, N. Y. By return mail you will receive the doctor's directions, and both jars, packed in a safety-sealed carton. On delivery pay two dollars plus postage. If you wish, you can save the postage fee by mailing the two dollars with your letter. Then, if you are in any way dissatisfied, your money will be cheerfully refunded. To give you an idea of how fully tested and proven the Viderm Double Treatment is, it may interest you to know that, up to this month, over two hundred and thirty-one thousand women have ordered it on my recommendation. If you could only see the thousands of happy, grateful letters that have come to me as a result, you would know the joy this simple treatment can bring. And, think of it!—the treatment must work for you, or it doesn't cost you a cent.

After my first set of exams, I came out with flying colors. Mike passed, but that was about all. His colors barely flapped. I slackened my studious pace, because I wasn't aiming to become a greasy grind—but as election time approached, I began to notice a certain phenomenon. The nearer we got to the polls, the less I saw of Mike.

We'd meet at school, but the atmosphere had changed. There was an ice cube nod instead of the expected four-alarm fire greeting. Before, Mike had acted as if he hadn't seen me in two years, and now he acted as if the name Pat had a familiar ring, but he wasn't quite sure where we'd met, or when.

No longer did the phone ring three times a day or even once a day, and finally, it didn't ring at all!

At first I was hurt, then furious, then hurt again, but underneath I was plain miserable. What had I done?

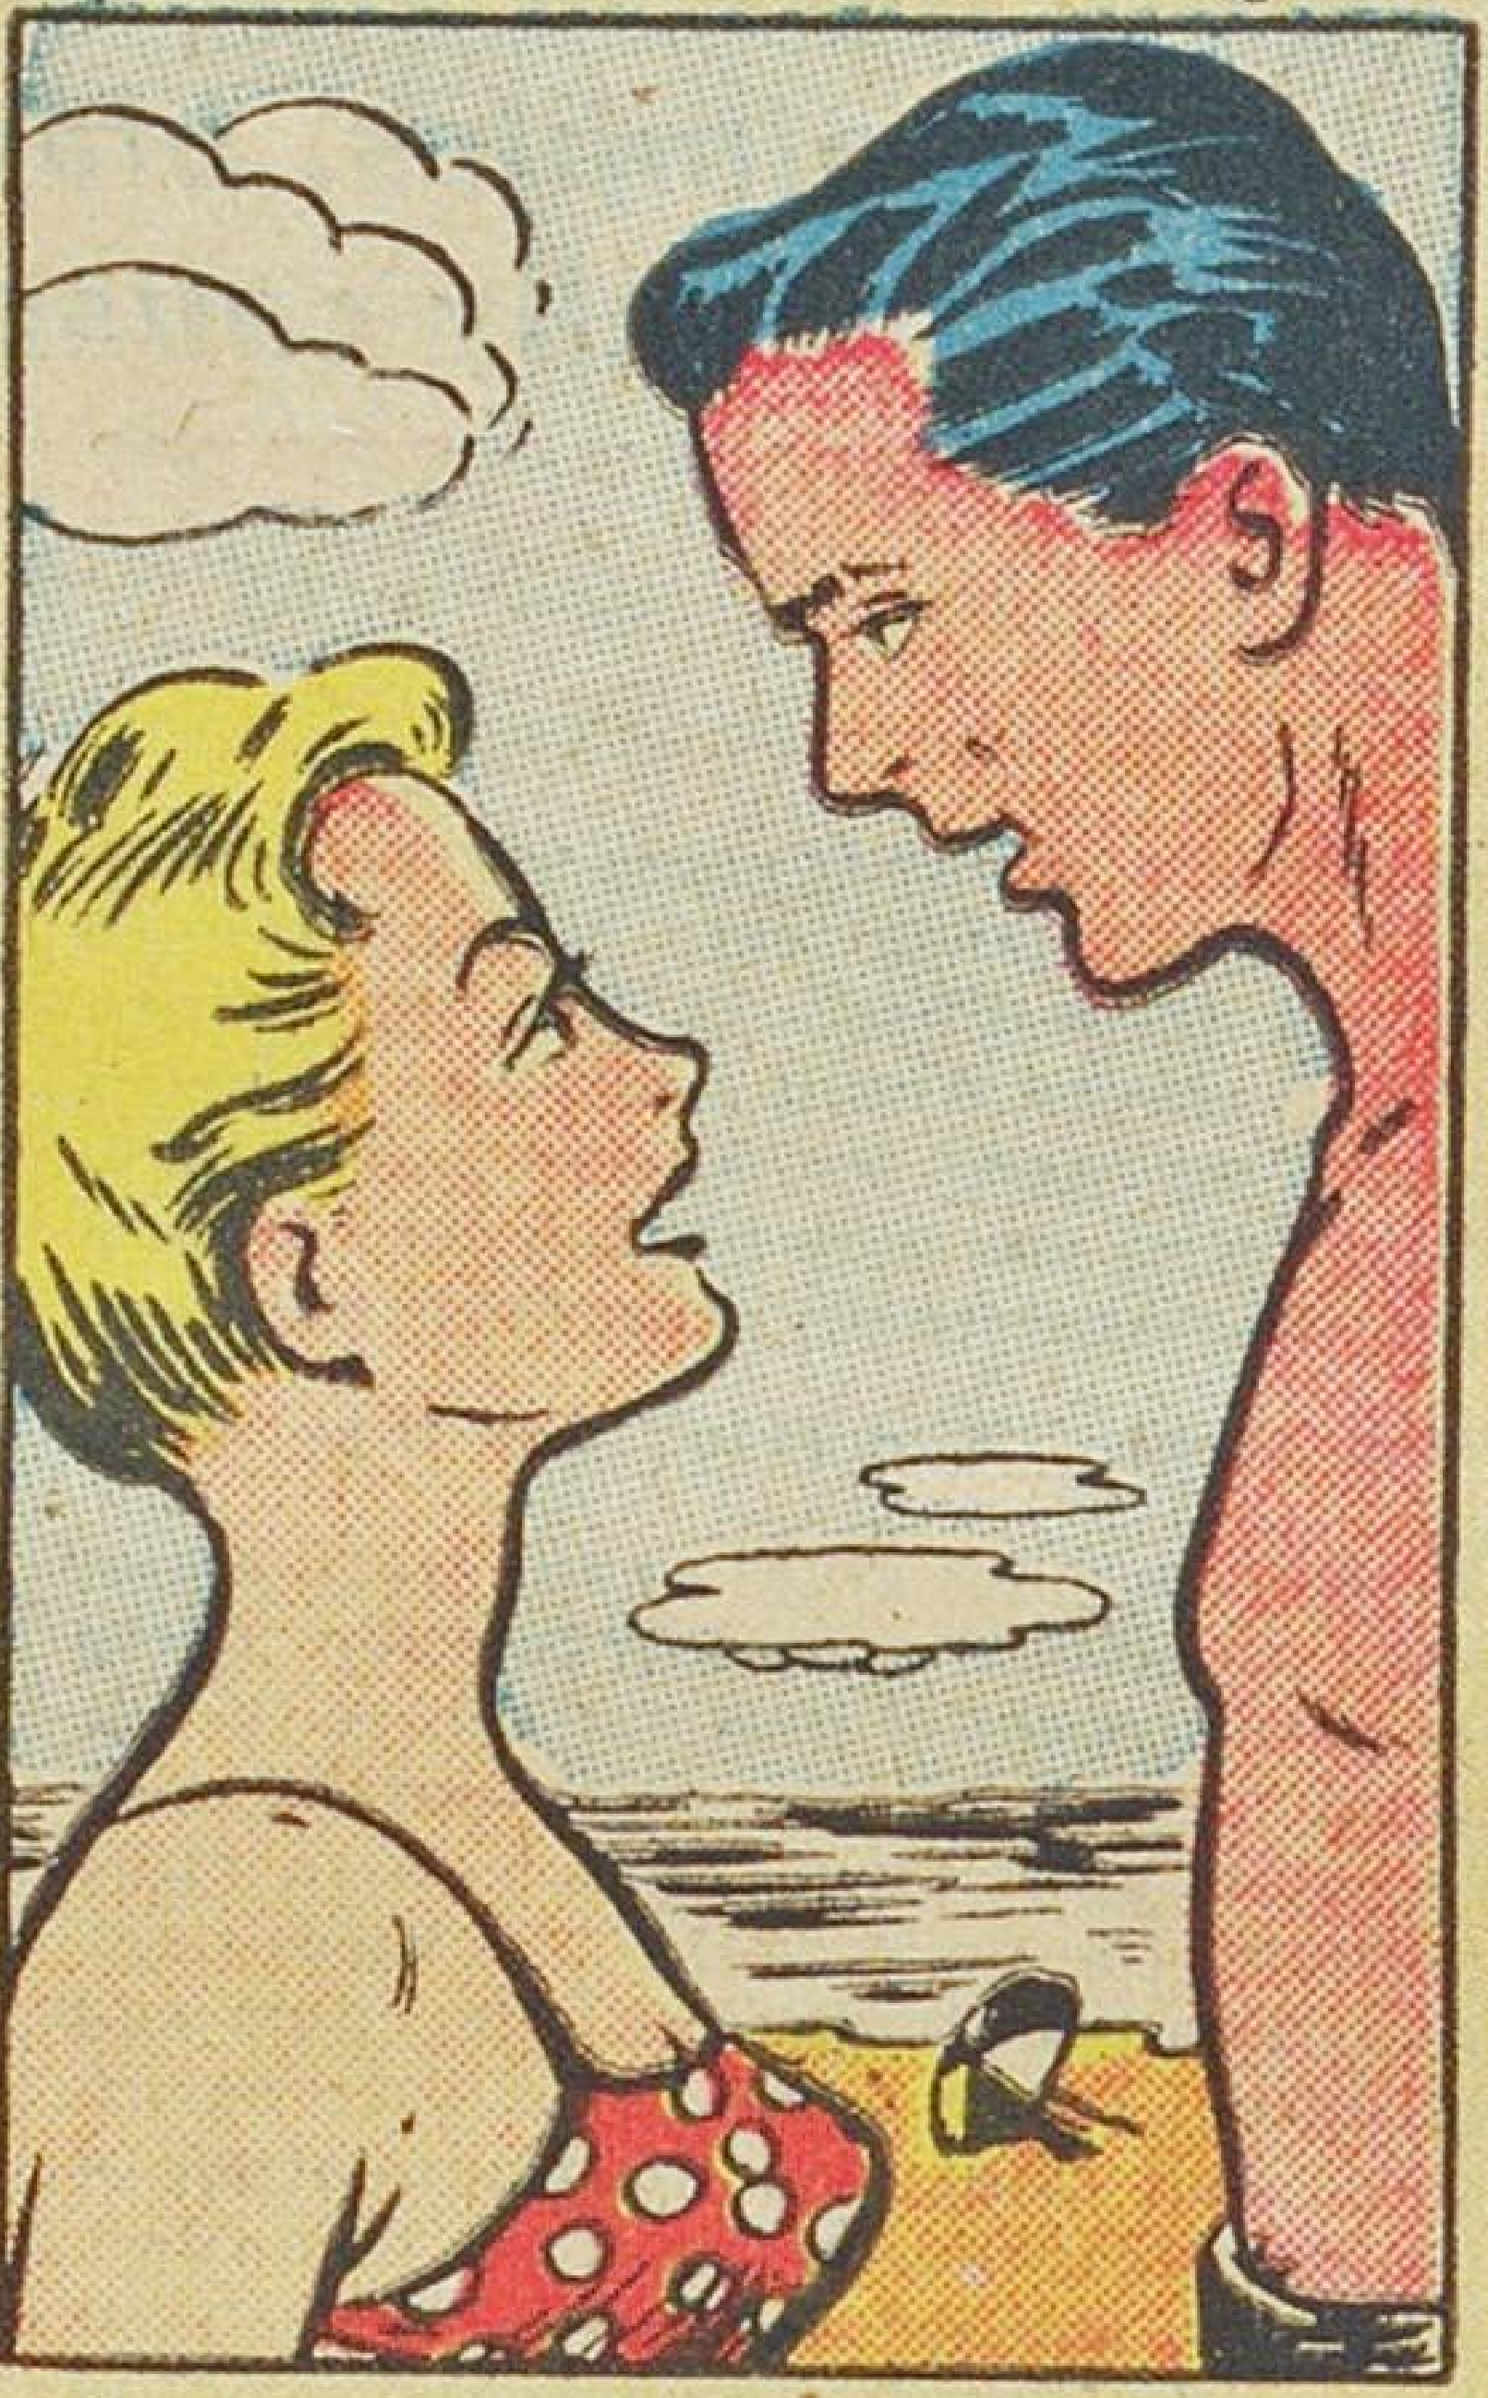
I was sitting in the kitchen weeping into my root beer one afternoon, when Mom found me. Her interrogations would have done credit to Sherlock Holmes and, of course, she twisted the whole story out of me.

"Mom, what have I done?" I wailed for about the tenth time.

She crossed her arms over her chest and gave me a long look. "My darling daughter, when I hooked your father, I did it with my baby-blue eyes—not my cum laude at college."

"You mean," I was literally stunned, "you were cum laude?"

"I've always kept it a very dark secret. Men," she paused to give emphasis to her words, "do not like women with too many brains. A few are all right, and even necessary from a man's point of view, and being mediocre in sports is sufficient. Pat, don't you realize you've been showing Mike up? I never thought a daughter of mine would have to be hit on the head with a sledge hammer to understand what happened. You beat Mike in the backstroke; you proved him a tenderfoot around a campfire; you topped his marks at school and, from what I gather, you'll probably beat him for class officer. The picture is black. He'll be known as Mr. Pat, and no self-respecting man will put up with that. He won't stand for it!"



"Of course he won't. What shall I do?" I wailed.

My mother gave me a long look of appraisal and quietly left the room. From then on, I was on my own. Mother believes in independent action. She thinks there are certain situations that must be solved by the individual concerned. She's right, as usual, but had I told her of my intentions, she would have balked. Any cum laude would have. But I did it!

I didn't crack a book for the entire month before election day! I read mystery novels or doodled during classes. The results were miraculous. I flunked both English and math and I flunked them, but good. Naturally, under the circumstances, my name was removed from the panel. I couldn't be elected to an office even if the entire school wanted me, because you had to have passing marks in order to qualify. So Mike swept into office.

After the election returns were in, I posted myself near the entrance to Ye Sweete Shoppe. I waited patiently, for I knew I'd be rewarded. Everyone stops at the Shoppe before going home. Finally, I saw Mike striding down the street. My heart shifted around, but as he came by me I stopped him, putting my hand out shyly and fluttering my eyelashes as I said, "Congratulations, the better man won!" Those were my very words.

He latched onto my hand and held it; his eyes were shiny and I got that special smile. He'd missed me, he said, and gosh, how did I ever fail in English, my best subject? He'd come over and help me every night.

"I don't know, Mike," I answered, still swishing my lashes. "My brain can't seem to remember if Browning or Omar Khayyam had written Hamlet."

"Doesn't take too many brains to remember that. I'm sure you have enough," he said. He started walking me into the Shoppe. "But, sugar, let's forget school. How about a movie tonight, huh?"

Pat and Mike, we're still an item in the gossip columns. See why I think it's smart to be stupid?
